jaat and some other random things Menu Meet the Hosts Welcome to the Meet the Hosts blog! From time to time, we will interview one of our new guests to talk about their experience being on our podcast and their journey in the Hindu-American community. This interview is with Prabhjot Kaur Jutt, a physician, Hamsa, and founder of the Jutt's team. In addition to being a well-respected doctor, Jutt's is also a very busy community service organization that helps many Hindu children and adults in America. We talk with Jutt about her journey, about her association with Hinduism and why she decided to be on our podcast.

1. Tell us a little bit about yourself. I am a physician in LA who moved to US in 2000 and started working in 2005. I have been working at CHOC for 13 years and I started Jutt's team in 2014 after working with Hindu-Americans in LA. I am also a mother of 3 kids. I am a doctor, a Hamsa, an event planner, a psychologist, a motivational speaker, a classical dancer and an author. 2.

So I would love to know how you got into Hinduism. I got into Hinduism when I was in college. My friend told me about it, I read a book about it. I liked it, and I have been a Hindu since. 3. Why did you want to be on the podcast? We get to meet a lot of people who come to our events. We try to make sure that those people feel comfortable and are getting the best experience. We wanted to know more about what our guest wanted to talk about, why they wanted to be on the podcast and how they wanted us to make their experience on the podcast to be the best. 4. How long have you been on the podcast? I have been on the podcast for almost two years now. 5. What do you enjoy the most about the podcast? I enjoy it because our guests feel comfortable and comfortable and they get to talk about their experiences and everything that they have been through. 6. We also thought it would be cool to talk to you about your journey in Hinduism and the Hindu-American community. So can you tell us a little bit about yourself? I am from LA, I was born in India 82157476af
